Company: Kerry Foods

What they do:

Kerry Foods is a leader in consumer foods markets.

Project title:

Kerry Foods chose Cad-Capture to provide its Document Management System

The project: The Company required a document management solution that would enable employees to store financial documents and retrieve them quickly in the event of a query from another company within the supply chain. Kerry Foods also wanted the ability to develop it further in-house.

Cad-Capture was required to implement its expertise in:

- 1) Document Management
- 2) COLD

Project : Kerry Foods

After the company's existing document management system (DMS) became out of date due to changing needs and requirements, Kerry Foods employed Cad-Capture to develop a unique solution that would enable the company to easily store and retrieve financial documents such as invoices and proof of delivery notes which would be provided by other companies within the supply chain.

Hummingbird™

The tailored solution that Cad-Capture provided consisted of Hummingbird DM and MaxRetriever, an integrated Computer Online Data (COLD) solution. MaxRetriever was integrated with the company's Promix ERP (Enterprise Resource Planning) and Hummingbird DM by capturing and storing invoices produced into a printer spool file. MaxRetriever provided Kerry Foods with the ability to store computer generated invoices as one compact file within Hummingbird DM and managed using automatically generated metadata for each invoice within a few seconds.

The project also involved utilising the DMS to store proof of delivery notes with signatures from deliveries which would be obtained by the company's delivery drivers on their hand-held computers. Software developers at Kerry Foods developed their own software that has provided the company with the ability to store the signatures electronically along with the proof of delivery notes and have also made them instantly accessible within the DMS. Again this process means Kerry Foods have instant access to essential documents. The effectiveness of the DMS has provided Kerry Foods with the means to retrieve financial documents speedily and they plan to implement the solution with Kofax Ascent Capture batch scanning software to retrieve purchase invoices and other documentation.

Bob Goodchild, IT director of Kerry Foods said: "Cad-Capture gave us a professional service, were flexible and provided us with an ideal solution that has enabled us to capture and store the financial documents we produce and receive on a day to day basis. The Cad-Capture solution is very flexible and will allow us to leverage the investment in other areas of the business."
